Volunteer Release

Skagit Land Trust volunteers represent the Trust in the community they work in and shall be professional and courteous to those they interact with while volunteering.

Staying safe on Trust lands is a high priority for Skagit Land Trust. It is expected that staff and volunteers exercise their best judgment, take precautions and pay attention to their surroundings in order to keep themselves and others safe. Staff will provide important safety information and guidance at the beginning of events. The Trust may cancel events in the case of weather which poses a hazard at specific sites. Please check in if you are unsure as to whether an event is still happening.

I understand that my volunteer work with Skagit Land Trust may involve difficult conditions, uneven terrain, unanticipated natural hazards, use of equipment, and/or strenuous manual labor. I undertake all activities at my own risk and agree, for myself and my heirs, to release Skagit Land Trust from any liability for injury to myself or damage to my possessions which may occur in connection with these Trust-related service activities.

Skagit Land Trust may use photos of me volunteering in outreach materials.

I am interested in being contacted by Skagit Land Trust with volunteer opportunities and would like to receive regular emails.
